

A little one for the little one
(Julien Bertrand – Barbara Frey)
Octobre 2019

There's a new space in my heart
There's a new man in my life
I am trying to see how these feelings can be
Sung for the little one

Sensin' a soft coolin' breeze
Smilin' in sweet innocence
I have open'd my arms for a new melody
Sung for the little one

He's a new born, a new soul
He is the thrill of it all
Glorious harmony, I was blind now I see
It is a fragrance sealin' our embrace

//
He's a new born, a new soul
A unique scene that unfolds
Waiting in the shadow of a dream meaning so
I now feel all the joy of this bright embrace
//

It is a flame without burn,
A hurricane that won't hurt
Welcoming the unknown in a vast symphony
Sung for the little one

We both proud and alone
Weepin' down to our bones
Suddenly all I see is a fear turned in hope
Just for the little one

He's a new born, a new soul
I will behold, truly see
What a boy he becomes, what a man he will be
Tastin' the sweetness of a so warm embrace